8. OPAL CREEK - THE GEM OF OREGON

Opal Creek's magic is immense – from the old growth forest, to the starry nights, to the sweet summer swimming holes – this unique place is truly one of the most magnificent destinations in Oregon. Summer reservations are sold out, but we've booked your reservation for Cabins 4 & 5, the newest additions to Jawbone Flats. These sought-after cabins are located three miles deep in the Opal Creek Wilderness. You can drop off your gear to be shuttled to camp, while you and your friends enjoy a beautiful walk and take in the sights of the North Fork of the Santiam River, strolling beneath the ancient firs on this old mining road. Off-the-grid and disconnected, you will all enjoy time with your family and friends hiking, swimming, and relaxing.

Kids will learn from the science staff at Jawbone Flats about the variety of critters living in the area, as well as how to be stewards of the land. Guests will learn of the remarkable history of this special area and its place in Oregon's conservation efforts. If your hope is to unplug before school begins while staying in a comfy cabin with good friends in a beautiful place, this is for you!

INCLUDES: Cabins 4 & 5 reserved for August 25 and 26 only. Each cabin can comfortably sleep up to 12 people.

RESTRICTIONS: Non-transferrable. Meals can be reserved for an additional fee.

11. "MIRRORED" & "PERSPECTIVES" BY THE SECOND GRADE CLASS

As an expansion of their forest studies the 2nd graders made prints from a variety of wood species. Through a process of sanding and burning, they brushed away the soft wood and revealed the hard rings that represented each year of the tree's growth. Under the skylights of the art barn young hands inked, blotted and rubbed, until the "big reveal" of the tree's image on paper.

Two framed ink prints on paper 39"x 35" and 52.5"x 38".

DONORS: 2nd Grade Class

VALUE: Priceless

12. AIN'T LIFE GRAND?!?!

It doesn't get much grander than exploring Michigan's gorgeous Mackinac Island through the lens of the iconic Grand Hotel. Since 1887, the Grand Hotel has beckoned guests to a bygone era of old-world hospitality and charm. This resort has received honors from publications such as Conde Nast Traveler, Travel + Leisure and Wine Spectator. And now YOU!
